MESSAGE FROM THE DESK OF THE PASTOR PSALM 126: 3

We are at the end of another year. It has been a successful year full of accomplishments and great deeds. The 21st Century Program continues to exceed our expectations. The children are learning and we are as well. It is indeed a humbling experience to have such a wonderful program, participants and teachers. We are blessed at this time in our lives. The children are growing and learning and we are growing and learning with them. Our work and purpose for which we have been called into act on each day. I am excited about our youth and the positive attitudes they exhibit against many odds. It will take all of us to continue to help them to become the great citizens they are destined to be. We speak hope, life, love, faith and power of our Holy God into their lives. It is His divine providence that has allowed us to become an integral part of their lives, and for this we do not take it lightly.

we are glad!

PROGRAM COORDINATOR NEWS

Thank you all for another successful year. The children are learning and enjoy participating in the program. It is our hope that they continue to excel. The 2006 summer program was one of the best ever and we are looking forward to another great year in 2007. We are always seeing and reaching out to those who have a passion for reaching, teaching and working with our children. Please contact me if you have this interest. We are purposely teaching our children to be strong, proud and intelligent young people full of hopes and dreams. Our task then is to help them realize these dreams. With all of us working together we can make a difference in their lives. Thanks for a terrific year.

FRIENDSHIP IS GOOD FOR THE SOUL

Having lasting friends is important for the soul. Having someone to confide in is good food for the mine. It gives us an opportunity to care for someone other than ourselves. The Bible gives us great examples of friendship. God even calls those who believe in him His friend. Being a friend and having friendship takes work.

A true friend cares and shares at all times. They confront and help us to see life through someone's else's eyes. But in choosing friends we must be careful. Not everyone has your best interest at heart.

This is an important lesson to teach your children. They should be taught how to choose friends who are wise, caring, honest and believe in similar values that you have taught. Since many of our children will eventually spend more time with friends than at home, we must ensure that what we teach our children holds true when they are with you. This is a daunting task, as it can have life changing impacts.

We have all heard of people being in the wrong place at the wrong time...Well we want our children to always be in the right place at the right time. We want them to be surrounded by friends who are true, honest and believe in a force higher than themselves. We must teach our children to value what is good and true in all friendships, a divine bond that joins us all to an eternal life.

“We want our children to be surrounded by friends who are true...”

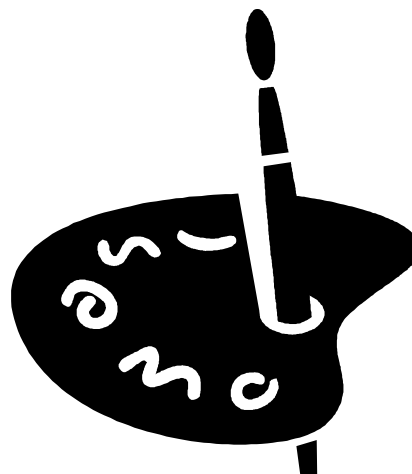

“Dare to live the life you have dreamed for yourself. Go forward and make your dreams come true.”
Ralph Waldo Emerson

GIVING IS YOUR GREATEST GIFT

What is the best gift that you have ever given or received? Do you remember the feeling you had when you received it? Do you remember the look on the face of the person who gave you the gift? Giving is the greatest gift. It makes you feel warm and brings all humans together. For when you give and it is from the heart, you open up windows of blessings to be showered down on you and the receiver. We are in a season of giving. We see it in the media and all around us. Giving makes us believe that there is some good in everyone.

Teach your children the many ways of giving. This involves their time, talents, self and finances. The lessons learned from giving will last for their lifetime. Giving then becomes a life long lesson.

“Let us love, not in word or speech, but in truth and action.”
